

6. 2022
AUGUST
SEPTEMBER

LEICA FOTOGRAFIE INTERNATIONAL

DEL BRENNA | HG ESCH | CASTELL-RÜDENHAUSEN

28MM SUMMILUX-M Leica complete their range of ultra-speed wide-angle lenses

ANCESTRAL LANDS Indios fight for their rights in Colombia - a reportage by Jonas Wresch

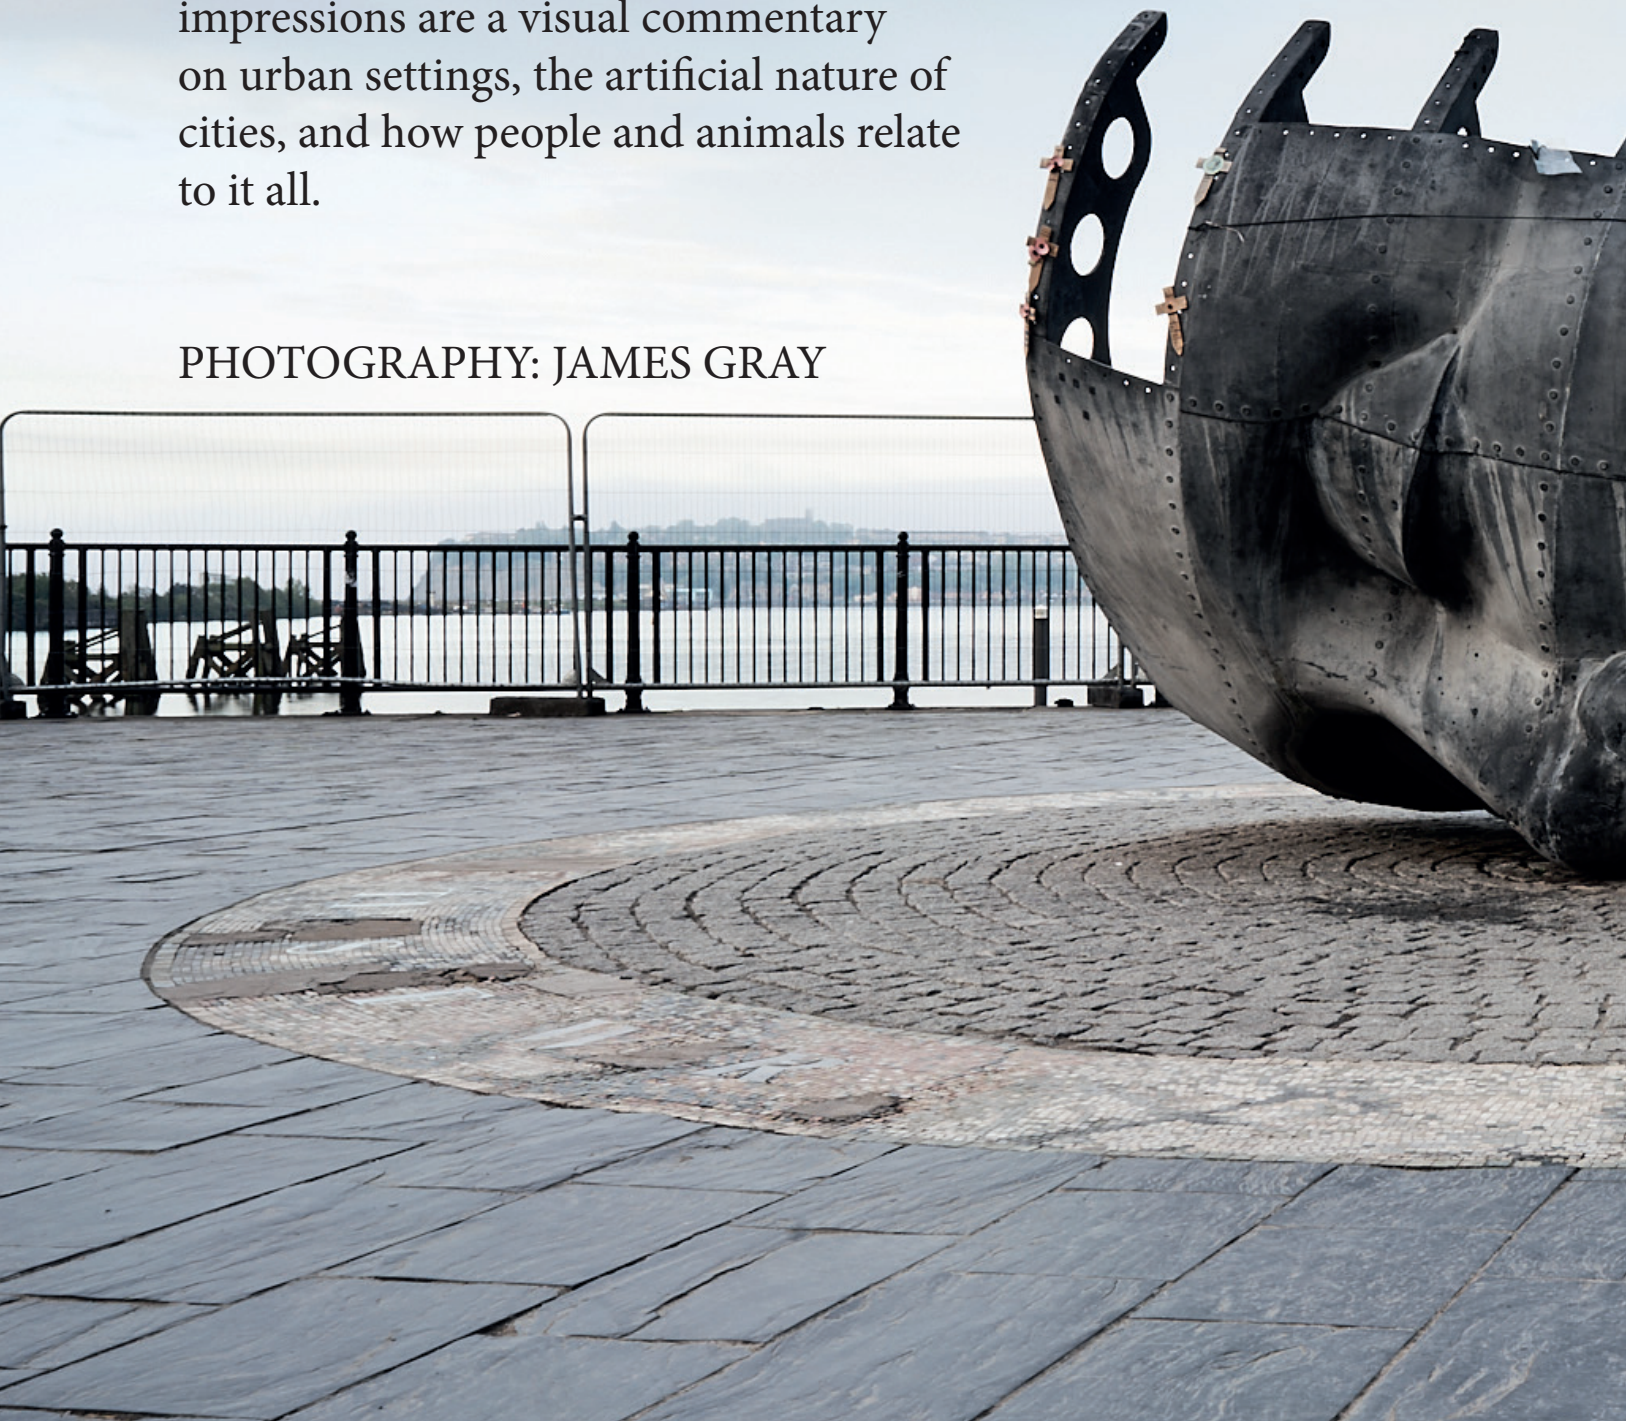

JAMES GRAY

Introspection given a visual form: the diary of an urban poet

Traces Of Humanity

British photographer James Gray is a sensitive observer who uses a camera to explore his surroundings. His poetic impressions are a visual commentary on urban settings, the artificial nature of cities, and how people and animals relate to it all.

PHOTOGRAPHY: JAMES GRAY

Clockwise from the left: The Wales Millennium Centre with the inscription, 'In these stones, Horizons sing', the Norwegian Church, which Roald Dahl was once patron, statue of Captain Scott who left Cardiff to travel to the South Pole, and the Mermaid Quay buildings in Cardiff Bay.

“When I’m out and about with my camera,
I virtually only follow my intuition. I find this better if I want to capture something in an emotional way.”

James Gray

